RESOLUTION

Supporting the goals and ideals of the designation of January 1, 2015, to December 31, 2024, as the “International Decade for People of African Descent”.

Whereas the decade commencing on January 1, 2015, and ending on December 31, 2024, has been designated as the “International Decade for People of African Descent” with the theme “People of African descent: recognition, justice and development”;

Whereas the African Diaspora is expansive, spanning across the globe from Latin America and the Caribbean to Asia and Europe, with persons of African descent having had a historical presence and currently residing on every continent;

Whereas during the “International Decade for People of African Descent” governments and civil society across the globe join together with people of African descent to promote respect, protection, and the fulfilment of human rights and fundamental freedoms;

Whereas during the “International Decade for People of African Descent” governments in concert with civil society are to strengthen national, regional and international action and cooperation to facilitate the full and equal participation of people of African descent in society, promote a greater knowledge of and respect for the diverse heritage, culture, and contributions of people of African descent to the development of societies, and to strengthen and implement legal frameworks that combat racial discrimination;

Whereas during the “International Decade for People of African Descent” governments are to utilize reliable statistical data to develop and implement in concert with civil society measurable national action plans and other strategies to address racial disparities impacting people of African descent in the justice, wealth, education, employment, health, housing, development, and other sectors;

Whereas government efforts of the “International Decade for People of African Descent” are to also promote the history and heritage of people of African descent, including through research and education, the full and accurate inclusion of their history and contributions in educational curricula, and by recognizing the victims and descendants of the transatlantic slave trade and colonialism, as a means of upholding their human dignity and equality and promoting societal reconciliation and healing;

Whereas government efforts of the “International Decade for People of African Descent” are to also enable the full, equal, and effective participation of people of African descent in public and political affairs; and

Whereas, on December 10, 2014, Ambassador Samantha Power, United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations, at the General Assembly Special Event on the International Decade for People of African Descent stated, “The United States comes to the International Decade for People of African Descent with a full and robust commitment to ensuring the rights of persons of African descent, and to combating racism and discrimination against them.”: Now, therefore, be it

12                             combat racism, discrimination, and intolerance in 13                             the United States and around the globe.
